Project: Product development

E.Hulme are a Family run business, established in 1921 within the West Midlands; giving a wealth of expertise in the trade with the largest Computerised and Semi-automatic small leather goods production in the UK. Combining these services with their in house artwork, foil blocking and pad printing departments; they are able to fulfill any size order to a meet requirements, without compromising on quality.

“We are just a small family firm still manufacturing all of our products in the UK, without the financial help of Green Bridge we would not of been able to undertake product development work and we can now look forward to a bright future”.

Robert Hulme, Director. E.Hulme
